CRYPTOLOGIA ANNUAL UNDERGRADUATE PAPER
COMPETITION IN CRYPTOLOGY
Announcing Winner for 1987 Competition

Jeff Belkora, an undergraduate student at Brown University, Providence RI USA, has won the 1987 Cryptologia Annual Undergraduate Paper Competition in Cryptology with its $300.00 First Prize and publication of his winning paper in Cryptologia. The winning paper, "Belkorian Hill Ciphering," introduces something new to the traditional Hill matrix cipher first proposed by Lester Hill in 1929. This paper will appear in the January 1989 issue.

(See page 269 of this issue for details of the competition.)
